

Speaker Bio:

Yihui Wang is an associate professor of finance at Gabelli School of Business of Fordham University. Before joining Fordham, she taught at the Chinese University of Hong Kong for three years. She received her PhD in finance in 2009 from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and holds bachelor's and master's degrees in finance and economics from Tsinghua University in China. Her research interests include financial institutions, securitization, corporate finance, and market microstructure. Her papers are published in the Journal of Finance and Review of Financial Studies.